

ACTA OBSTETRICIA ET GYNECOLOGICA SCANDINAVICA
Official Publication of the Scandinavian Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Acta Obstetricia et Gynecologica Scandinavica
Volume 68, Nos. 1—8, 1989

Umeå 1989

Copyright ©1989 by the Scandinavian Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Distributed by Acta Obstetricia et Gynecologica Scandinavica
Box 443, S-901 09 Umeå, Sweden

ISSN 0001-6349 (Acta Obstet Gynecol Scand) and ISSN 0300-8835 (Supplements to the journal)

Printing and Binding by
Nyheternas Tryckeri AB, Umeå, Sweden, 1989

ACTA OBSTETRICIA ET GYNECOLOGICA SCANDINAVICA
Official Publication of the Scandinavian Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Index of Authors

Acta Obstetricia et Gynecologica Scandinavica
Volume 68, Nos. 1—8, 1989

Umeå 1989

INDEX OF AUTHORS

Acta Obstetricia et Gynecologica Scandinavica

Volume 68, 1989

| Author            | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Abramov, L.       | 6   | 529  | Calcium antagonist. Effect on adhesion formation                                                                                                                                                  |
| Adachi, S.        | 5   | 429  | Establishment and characterization of a subline predisposed to pulmonary metastasis from a human gestational choriocarcinoma cell line in nude mice                                               |
| Adler, I.         | 8   | 677  | Ranking risk factors for perinatal mortality. Analysis of a nation wide study                                                                                                                     |
| Ahlbom, G.        | 3   | 279  | Extramedullary solitary plasmocytoma at the uterine cervix as a cause of postcoital bleeding                                                                                                      |
| Alberman, E.      | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis                                                |
| Alberman, E.      | 1   | 11   | International collaborative (ICE) on birthweight, plurality and perinatal and infant mortality. II: Comparisons between birthweight distributions of births in member countries from 1970 to 1984 |
| Albert, E         | 2   | 185  | Addison's disease and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Alfirević, Z.     | 2   | 131  | Transvaginal color Doppler for the assessment of pelvic circulation                                                                                                                               |
| Alm, P.           | 6   | 487  | Local mechanical effects and humoral factors evoke degeneration of guinea pig uterine innervation                                                                                                 |
| Andersch, B.      | 6   | 555  | A double-blind cross-over study comparing flurbiprofen with naproxen-sodium for the treatment of primary dysmenorrhea                                                                             |
| Andersen, T. H.   | 4   | 381  | Severe complication to phytomenadione after intramuscular injection in woman in labor                                                                                                             |
| Andersson, K.-E.  | 8   | 725  | Effect of isradipine, a new calcium antagonist, on postpartum uterine activity                                                                                                                    |
| Andersson, P. O.  | 2   | 165  | Plasma levels of gastrin, somatostatin, VIP, insulin and oxytocin during the menstrual cycle in women (with and without oral contraceptives)                                                      |
| Anker, C.         | 5   | 443  | Ultrasonography versus urography as preoperative investigation prior to hysterectomy                                                                                                              |
| Arad, D.          | 1   | 85   | Ultrasonographic diagnosis of post salpingectomy interstitial pregnancy                                                                                                                           |
| Arstila, P.       | 7   | 627  | Comparison of smear specimen with biopsy specimen in diagnostics of human papilloma virus (HPV) infection                                                                                         |
| Arulkumaran, S.   | 8   | 725  | Effect of isradipine, a new calcium antagonist, on postpartum uterine activity                                                                                                                    |
| Ashley, D.        | 7   | 581  | Maternal mortality in Jamaica. Socioeconomic factors                                                                                                                                              |
| Askmalm, L.       | 2   | 157  | The prognosis in early endometrial carcinoma. The importance of uterine papillary serous carcinoma (UPSC), age, FIGO grade and nuclear grade                                                      |
| Aslaksen, A.      | 5   | 443  | Ultrasonography versus urography as preoperative investigation prior to hysterectomy                                                                                                              |
| Auvinen, E.       | 7   | 627  | Comparison of smear specimen with biopsy specimen in diagnostics of human papilloma virus (HPV) infection                                                                                         |
| Axelsson, O.      | 5   | 435  | Breech extraction versus cesarean section for the remaining second twin                                                                                                                           |
| Baadsgaard, E. E. | 3   | 283  | Major vascular injury during gynecologic laparoscopy                                                                                                                                              |
| Bahary, C.        | 5   | 469  | Scleroderma and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Bahary, C.        | 6   | 533  | Abnormal thyroid function in hyperemesis gravidarum                                                                                                                                               |
| Bakke, T.         | 5   | 439  | Uterine size, parity and umbilical cord length                                                                                                                                                    |
| Bakketeig, L. S.  | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                                                          |
| Bakketeig, L. S.  | 8   | 683  | Comparison of induced versus non-induced labor in post-term pregnancy. A randomized prospective study                                                                                             |
| Baldur, B.        | 3   | 277  | Bilateral parametrial mature teratomas                                                                                                                                                            |
| Barash, A.        | 7   | 643  | Simultaneous tubal and intra-uterine pregnancy following in-vitro fertilization and embryo transfer                                                                                               |

| Author         | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|----------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Barco, M. J.   | 7   | 603  | Dopler velocimetry measured in retrochorionic space and uterine arteries during early human pregnancy                                                                                             |
| Barents, J. W. | 3   | 221  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. I: Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage function                                                                 |
| Barents, J. W. | 3   | 231  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. II: Urodynamic quantification of changes in evacuation function                                                             |
| Barents, J. W. | 4   | 331  | Radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage and evacuation function                                                         |
| Beck, A.       | 7   | 653  | Diagnostic potential of cardiotocography (CTG) for silent uterine rupture                                                                                                                         |
| Ben-Aderet, N. | 5   | 469  | Scleroderma and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Ben-Baruch, G. | 5   | 465  | Pyosalpinx subsequent to tubal ligation                                                                                                                                                           |
| Ben-Nun, I.    | 6   | 523  | The use of PGE-2 for induction of labor in patients with a previous cesarean section scar                                                                                                         |
| Ben-Rafael, Z. | 6   | 511  | Ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome due to exogenous gonadotropin administration                                                                                                                    |
| Ben-Shlomo, I. | 4   | 379  | Quadruplets following cessation of clomiphene citrate: A case of sustained effect                                                                                                                 |
| Benima, Y.     | 7   | 661  | I.V.F. treatment following Danazol priming in a patient with severe endometriosis                                                                                                                 |
| Berge, L. N.   | 2   | 185  | Addison's disease and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Bergelin, I.   | 1   | 79   | Effective sampling device and mucopurulent cervicitis in women with chlamydial cervical infection                                                                                                 |
| Berglund, L.   | 4   | 377  | Heterophilic antibodies against rabbit serum causing falsely elevated gonadotropin levels                                                                                                         |
| Berglund, L.   | 5   | 435  | Breech extraction versus cesarean section for the remaining second twin                                                                                                                           |
| Bergman, B.    | 3   | 217  | Mobiluncus and clue cells as predictors of PID after first trimester abortion                                                                                                                     |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 1   | 3    | Acta commentary: Introducing two international studies on perinatal and infant growth, morbidity and mortality                                                                                    |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis                                                |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                                                          |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 2   | 99   | Acta Commentary: Classification and audit of perinatal deaths: The Icelandic and other examples                                                                                                   |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 2   | 113  | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birth weight, plurality, perinatal and infant mortality. III: A method of grouping underlying causes of infant death to aid international comparisons |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 4   | 319  | Computation of fertility rates following a defined reproductive risk event, by the life table method, with ectopic pregnancy used as an example                                                   |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 7   | 579  | Acta Commentary: Maternal mortality revisited                                                                                                                                                     |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 8   | 675  | Acta commentary: How to grapple with risk factors for perinatal mortality                                                                                                                         |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 7   | 589  | Changes in frequency and indications for cesarean section in Norway 1967-1984                                                                                                                     |
| Bergsjø, P.    | 8   | 683  | Comparison of induced versus non-induced labor in post-term pregnancy. A randomized prospective study                                                                                             |
| Bernasconi, D. | 8   | 731  | Estrogen and progesterone receptors in uterine leiomyomas                                                                                                                                         |
| Bertia, S.     | 8   | 731  | Estrogen and progesterone receptors in uterine leiomyomas                                                                                                                                         |
| Bertelsen, V.  | 6   | 541  | Changes in renal volume during normal pregnancy                                                                                                                                                   |
| Bhatia, R. K.  | 7   | 645  | First trimester diagnosis and early in utero treatment of obstructive uropathy                                                                                                                    |
| Bider, D.      | 6   | 511  | Ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome due to exogenous gonadotropin administration                                                                                                                    |
| Biering, G.    | 2   | 101  | Classification of perinatal and late neonatal deaths in Iceland. A survey from a defined population                                                                                               |
| Biering, G.    | 2   | 109  | Can we expect to lower perinatal and neonatal mortality?                                                                                                                                          |
| Bille, S.      | 3   | 283  | Major vascular injury during gynecologic laparoscopy                                                                                                                                              |

| Author             | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                        |
|--------------------|-----|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Bitsch, M.         | 2   | 119  | Maternal heart disease. A survey of a decade in a Danish university hospital                                                                                          |
| Blaschke, E.       | 1   | 55   | 100 cases of external cephalic version with special reference to fetomaterial transfusion                                                                             |
| Blegvad, S.        | 3   | 267  | Emergency embolectomy in a patient with massive pulmonary embolism during second trimester pregnancy                                                                  |
| Blickstein, I.     | 7   | 643  | Simultaneous tubal and intra-uterine pregnancy following in-vitro fertilization and embryo transfer                                                                   |
| Bodén, E.          | 2   | 179  | Papilloma virus infection of the vulva                                                                                                                                |
| Bokström, H.       | 4   | 313  | Preoperative dilatation of the cervix at legal abortion with a synthetic, fast swelling hygroscopic tent                                                              |
| Bordt, J.          | 4   | 363  | Ovarian cystotomy                                                                                                                                                     |
| Borenstein, R.     | 7   | 643  | Simultaneous tubal and intra-uterine pregnancy following in-vitro fertilization and embryo transfer                                                                   |
| Borstad, E.        | 6   | 545  | The risk of developing urinary stress-incontinence after vaginal repair in continent women                                                                            |
| Borthen, I         | 7   | 589  | Changes in frequency and indications for cesarean section in Norway 1967—1984                                                                                         |
| Borud, O.          | 2   | 145  | Pre-eclampsia. A mitochondrial disease?                                                                                                                               |
| Bossaert, L. L.    | 1   | 87   | Mastitis and toxic shock syndrome                                                                                                                                     |
| Bouma, J.          | 5   | 471  | Ovarian metastasis from squamocellular cervical cancer, stages I B and II A                                                                                           |
| Brachmann, K.      | 7   | 633  | Lipid metabolism during treatment of endometriosis with the progestin dienogest                                                                                       |
| Brandt, C. A.      | 3   | 281  | Uterine rupture after re-implantation of fallopian tubes                                                                                                              |
| Bro, F             | 1   | 41   | Patients with vaginal discharge in general practice                                                                                                                   |
| Bruinse, H. W.     | 8   | 693  | The performance of a simple scoring system screening for low birth-weight infants for gestation in an unselected pregnant population                                  |
| Brun, O.           | 4   | 319  | Computation of fertility rates following a defined reproductive risk event, by the life table method, with ectopic pregnancy used as an example                       |
| Buytaert, P.       | 1   | 87   | Mastitis and toxic shock syndrome                                                                                                                                     |
| Bygdeman, M.       | 4   | 291  | Antiprogestin and fertility control                                                                                                                                   |
| Bygdeman, M.       | 4   | 293  | Termination of early pregnancy with RU 486 (mifepristone) in combination with a prostaglandin analogue (sulprostone)                                                  |
| Bygdeman, M.       | 6   | 515  | Somatic complications and contraceptive techniques following legal abortion                                                                                           |
| Bygdeman, S.       | 5   | 405  | The influence of cervical dilatation by laminaria tent and with Hegar dilators on the intrauterine microflora and the rate of postabortal pelvic inflammatory disease |
| Bäckström, T.      | 1   | 71   | On the prenatal diagnosis of congenital adrenal hyperplasia (CAH) by measurement of amniotic fluid 17-alpha-hydroxyprogesterone, aldosterone and cortisol             |
| Bäckström, T.      | 3   | 247  | A demographic study in subgroups of women seeking help for premenstrual syndrome                                                                                      |
| Caspi, E.          | 1   | 85   | Ultrasonographic diagnosis of post salpingectomy interstitial pregnancy                                                                                               |
| Castrén, O.        | 7   | 619  | Cryotherapy and CO <sub>2</sub> -laser vaporization in the treatment of cervical and vaginal human papillomavirus (HPV) infections                                    |
| Cederberg, L.      | 4   | 341  | Relief of low back pain in labor using intracutaneous nerve stimulation (INS) with sterile water papules                                                              |
| Centonze, M.       | 8   | 731  | Estrogen and progesteron receptors in uterine leiomyomas                                                                                                              |
| Chard, T.          | 3   | 237  | Placental proteins 12 and 14 in pre-eclampsia                                                                                                                         |
| Christensen, K. K. | 3   | 201  | Reduced rate of postoperative infections in emergency cesarean sections after two doses of cefuroxime perioperatively. A placebo controlled study                     |
| Christensen, P.    | 3   | 201  | Reduced rate of postoperative infections in emergency cesarean sections after two doses of cefuroxime perioperatively. A placebo controlled study                     |
| Christensen, Th.   | 6   | 541  | Changes in renal volume during normal pregnancy                                                                                                                       |

| Author              | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Christensson, K.    | 3   | 205  | Effect of nipple stimulation on uterine activity and on plasma levels of oxytocin in full term healthy, pregnant women                                                                            |
| Christiansen, O. B. | 2   | 153  | The clinical significance of the genital microbiological flora at vacuum aspiration following miscarriage                                                                                         |
| Chuong, C. J.       | 6   | 497  | Beta-endorphin levels in the human menstrual cycle                                                                                                                                                |
| Cohen, H.           | 2   | 149  | Oral administration of the prostaglandin enisoprost induces uterine activity and softens the cervix during first trimester pregnancy                                                              |
| Cole, S.            | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis                                                |
| Cole, S.            | 2   | 113  | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birth weight, plurality, perinatal and infant mortality. III: A method of grouping underlying causes of infant death to aid international comparisons |
| Cutter, G.          | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                                                          |
| Dahlgren, E.        | 6   | 507  | A model for prediction of endometrial cancer                                                                                                                                                      |
| Dahlström, J. A.    | 6   | 567  | Successful late repair of anal sphincter rupture caused by delivery                                                                                                                               |
| Dalaker, K.         | 2   | 185  | Addison's disease and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                   |
| David, M. P.        | 6   | 529  | Calcium antagonist — Effect on adhesion formation                                                                                                                                                 |
| Davis, R. O.        | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                                                          |
| de Bruijn, H. W. A. | 7   | 637  | Serum Ca 125 levels in patients with a provisional diagnosis of pelvic inflammatory disease. Clinical and theoretical implications                                                                |
| de la Fuente, F.    | 7   | 603  | Dopler velocimetry measured in retrochorionic space and uterine arteries during early human pregnancy                                                                                             |
| De Wilde, R.        | 4   | 363  | Ovarian cystotomy                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Debruyne, F. M. J.  | 3   | 221  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. I: Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage function                                                                 |
| Debruyne, F. M. J.  | 3   | 231  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. II: Urodynamic quantification of changes in evacuation function                                                             |
| Debruyne, F. M. J.  | 4   | 331  | Radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage and evacuation function                                                         |
| Degani, Sh.         | 5   | 461  | Prenatal ultrasound diagnosis of isolated arthrogryposis of feet                                                                                                                                  |
| Dellenbach, P.      | 8   | 713  | Are there two biological parts in the second stage of labor?                                                                                                                                      |
| Demey, H. E.        | 1   | 87   | Mastitis and toxic shock syndrome                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Drugan, A.          | 7   | 645  | First trimester diagnosis and early in utero treatment of obstructive uropathy                                                                                                                    |
| Duk, J. M.          | 7   | 637  | Serum Ca 125 levels in patients with a provisional diagnosis of pelvic inflammatory disease. Clinical and theoretical implications                                                                |
| Düring, V.          | 1   | 83   | A spleen pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Economides, D.      | 3   | 237  | Placental proteins 12 and 14 in pre-eclampsia                                                                                                                                                     |
| Egarter, Ch.        | 4   | 359  | Effect of beta-receptor blockers on uterine contractility in a puerperal model                                                                                                                    |
| Egeblad, K.         | 3   | 283  | Major vascular injury during gynecologic laparoscopy                                                                                                                                              |
| Ekman, G.           | 4   | 365  | Intravenous infusion of 15 methyl-prostaglandin F <sub>2α</sub> (Prostinfenem) in women with heavy post partum hemorrhage                                                                         |
| Ekström, P.         | 1   | 31   | The influence of a combined oral contraceptive on uterine activity and reactivity to agonists in primary dysmenorrhoea                                                                            |
| El, R. R.           | 1   | 85   | Ultrasonographic diagnosis of post salpingectomy interstitial pregnancy                                                                                                                           |
| Eliasson, A.        | 2   | 171  | Fetal blood velocity waveforms in normal pregnancies. A longitudinal study                                                                                                                        |
| Endler, G. C.       | 5   | 417  | Quality assurance in a large American perinatal center                                                                                                                                            |
| Eppel, W.           | 1   | 89   | Vaginosonographic surveillance of cervix after conization                                                                                                                                         |
| Evander, M.         | 2   | 179  | Papilloma virus infection of the vulva                                                                                                                                                            |
| Evans, M. I.        | 7   | 645  | First trimester diagnosis and early in utero treatment of obstructive uropathy                                                                                                                    |
| Evans, S.           | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis                                                |

| Author            | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Evans, S.         | 1   | 11   | International collaborative (ICE) on birthweight, plurality and perinatal and infant mortality. II: Comparisons between birthweight distributions of births in member countries from 1970 to 1984 |
| Fallingborg, J.   | 4   | 381  | Severe complication to phytomenadione after intramuscular injection in woman in labor                                                                                                             |
| Farkas, A. G.     | 3   | 237  | Placental proteins 12 and 14 in pre-eclampsia                                                                                                                                                     |
| Fazzuoli, L.      | 8   | 731  | Estrogen and progesterone receptors in uterine leiomyomas                                                                                                                                         |
| Fejgin, M.        | 5   | 469  | Scleroderma and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Fejgin, M. D.     | 6   | 523  | The use of PGE-2 for induction of labor in patients with a previous cesarean sectio scar                                                                                                          |
| Feuilly, C.       | 5   | 463  | Prenatal diagnosis of left ventricular false tendon                                                                                                                                               |
| Fisch, B.         | 7   | 661  | I.V.F. treatment following Danazol Priming in a patient with severe endometriosis                                                                                                                 |
| Fisher, M.        | 7   | 657  | Acute Rh isoimmunization following abdominal trauma associated with late abruption placenta                                                                                                       |
| Flam, F.          | 1   | 65   | Twenty years experience of treating gestational trophoblastic neoplasia in Sweden                                                                                                                 |
| Flam, F.          | 3   | 263  | Antibody to human chorionic gonadotropin detected choriocarcinoma                                                                                                                                 |
| Fluren, G. J.     | 7   | 637  | Serum Ca 125 levels in patients with a provisional diagnosis of pelvic inflammatory disease. Clinical and theoretical implications                                                                |
| Forman, A.        | 8   | 725  | Effect of isradipine, a new calcium antagonist, on postpartum uterine activity                                                                                                                    |
| Forsum, U.        | 3   | 217  | Mobiluncus and clue cells as predictors of PID after first trimester abortion                                                                                                                     |
| Forsum, U.        | 5   | 405  | The influence of cervical dilatation by laminaria tent and with Hegar dilators on the intrauterine microflora and the rate of postabortal pelvic inflammatory disease                             |
| Fried, G.         | 6   | 515  | Somatic complications and contraceptive techniques following legal abortion                                                                                                                       |
| Frigo, P.         | 1   | 89   | Vaginosonographic surveillance of cervix after conization                                                                                                                                         |
| Fryklund, N.      | 1   | 79   | Effective sampling device and mucopurulent cervicitis in women with chlamydial cervical infection                                                                                                 |
| Gale, R.          | 6   | 561  | Sinusoidal heart rate pattern and an normal biophysical profile in a severely compromised fetus                                                                                                   |
| Geirsson, R. T.   | 2   | 101  | Classification of perinatal and late neonatal deaths in Iceland. A survey from a defined population                                                                                               |
| Geirsson, R. T.   | 2   | 109  | Can we expect to lower perinatal and neonatal mortality?                                                                                                                                          |
| Geirsson, R. T.   | 7   | 599  | Incidence and relation to parity of pregnancy-induced hypertension in Iceland                                                                                                                     |
| Geitung, J. T.    | 5   | 443  | Ultrasonography versus urography as preoperative investigation prior to hysterectomy                                                                                                              |
| Georgsdóttir, I.  | 2   | 101  | Classification of perinatal and late neonatal deaths in Iceland. A survey from a defined population                                                                                               |
| Georgsdóttir, I.  | 2   | 109  | Can we expect to lower perinatal and neonatal mortality?                                                                                                                                          |
| Giordano, G.      | 8   | 731  | Estrogen and progesterone receptors in uterine leiomyomas                                                                                                                                         |
| Golan, A.         | 6   | 529  | Calcium antagonist — Effect on adhesion formation                                                                                                                                                 |
| Goldberger, S. B. | 6   | 523  | The use of PGE-2 for induction of labor in patients with a previous cesarean sectio scar                                                                                                          |
| Goldenburg, R. L. | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                                                          |
| Golding, J.       | 7   | 581  | Maternal mortality in Jamaica. Socioeconomic factors                                                                                                                                              |
| Grankvist, K.     | 1   | 71   | On the prenatal diagnosis of congenital adrenal hyperplasia (CAH) by measurement of amniotic fluid 17-alpha-hydroxyprogesterone, aldosterone and cortisol                                         |
| Granström, L.     | 4   | 365  | Intravenous infusion of 15 methyl-prostaglandin F2-alpha (Prostinfenem) in women with heavy post partum hemorrhage                                                                                |
| Green, K.         | 1   | 55   | 100 cases of external cephalic version with special reference to fetomaterial transfusion                                                                                                         |
| Grennert, L.      | 6   | 537  | Autoimmune antibodies and pregnancy outcome in women with false positive syphilis test results                                                                                                    |

| Author                | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Grünberger, W.        | 4   | 359  | Effect of beta-receptor blockers on uterine contractility in a puerperal model                                                                                                                    |
| Gui-dan, H.           | 8   | 683  | Comparison of induced versus non-induced labor in post-term pregnancy. A randomized prospective study                                                                                             |
| Guidholt, I.          | 3   | 267  | Emergency embolectomy in a patient with massive pulmonary embolism during second trimester pregnancy                                                                                              |
| Gunnlaugsson, S. R.   | 7   | 599  | Incidence and relation to parity of pregnancy-induced hypertension in Iceland                                                                                                                     |
| Gustafson, A.         | 6   | 483  | Studies on blood viscosity during the menstrual cycle and in the post-menopausal period in healthy women                                                                                          |
| Gustavsson, G.        | 1   | 71   | On the prenatal diagnosis of congenital adrenal hyperplasia (CAH) by measurement of amniotic fluid 17-alpha-hydroxyprogesterone, aldosterone and cortisol                                         |
| Göretzlehner, G.      | 7   | 633  | Lipid metabolism during treatment of endometriosis with the progestin dienogest                                                                                                                   |
| Göthlin, J. H.        | 5   | 443  | Ultrasonography versus urography as preoperative investigation prior to hysterectomy                                                                                                              |
| Høgdaal, C.           | 7   | 651  | Spontaneous rupture of an ovarian-artery aneurysm in the third trimester of pregnancy                                                                                                             |
| Høgdaal, C.           | 8   | 737  | Reversal of female sterilization using macro technique                                                                                                                                            |
| Haadem, K.            | 6   | 567  | Successful late repair of anal sphincter rupture caused by delivery                                                                                                                               |
| Haberey, P.           | 8   | 713  | Are there two biological parts in the second stage of labor?                                                                                                                                      |
| Hallgrímsson, J. T.   | 7   | 599  | Incidence and relation to parity of pregnancy-induced hypertension in Iceland                                                                                                                     |
| Hammarbäck, S.        | 3   | 247  | A demographic study in subgroups of women seeking help for premenstrual syndrome                                                                                                                  |
| Hansen, B. U.         | 6   | 537  | Autoimmune antibodies and pregnancy outcome in women with false positive syphilis test results                                                                                                    |
| Hansen, H. E.         | 6   | 541  | Changes in renal volume during normal pregnancy                                                                                                                                                   |
| Hansen, L. K.         | 2   | 189  | Bilateral female pelvic actinomycosis                                                                                                                                                             |
| Hansen, U. M.         | 3   | 255  | Sexual behavior, contraception and unintended pregnancy among young females                                                                                                                       |
| Hareide, J. H.        | 2   | 171  | Fetal blood velocity waveforms in normal pregnancies. A longitudinal study                                                                                                                        |
| Hartford, R.          | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis                                                |
| Hartford, R. B.       | 2   | 113  | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birth weight, plurality, perinatal and infant mortality. III: A method of grouping underlying causes of infant death to aid international comparisons |
| Haspels, A. A.        | 3   | 221  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. I: Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage function                                                                 |
| Haspels, A. A.        | 3   | 231  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. II: Urodynamic quantification of changes in evacuation function                                                             |
| Haspels, A. A.        | 4   | 331  | Radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage and evacuation function                                                         |
| Hauksson, A.          | 1   | 31   | The influence of a combined oral contraceptive on uterine activity and reactivity to agonists in primary dysmenorrhoea                                                                            |
| Hautekeete, M. L.     | 1   | 87   | Mastitis and toxic shock syndrome                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Hedner, P.            | 6   | 483  | Studies on blood viscosity during the menstrual cycle and in the postmenopausal period in healthy women                                                                                           |
| Helgestrand, U. J. V. | 7   | 651  | Spontaneous rupture of an ovarian-artery aneurysm in the third trimester of pregnancy                                                                                                             |
| Henningsen, I.        | 8   | 699  | The unborn and newborn child I                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Henningsen, I.        | 8   | 707  | The unborn and newborn child II                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Henriksen, R.         | 6   | 537  | Autoimmune antibodies and pregnancy outcome in women with false positive syphilis test results                                                                                                    |
| Henriksen, T.         | 3   | 197  | Gamete intrafallopian transfer (GIFT). The results of 93 consecutive treatments                                                                                                                   |

| Author                | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------|-----|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Hesseling, M.         | 4   | 363  | Ovarian cystotomy                                                                                                                                         |
| Hieta-Heikurainen, H. | 5   | 457  | Comparison of menstrual history and basal body temperature with early fetal growth by ultrasound in diabetic pregnancy                                    |
| Hilden, J.            | 8   | 699  | The unborn and newborn child I                                                                                                                            |
| Hilden, J.            | 8   | 707  | The unborn and newborn child II                                                                                                                           |
| Hindsholm, K. B.      | 4   | 381  | Severe complication to phytomenadione after intramuscular injection in woman in labor                                                                     |
| Hoel, T. M.           | 2   | 125  | Alleviation of labor pain in Norway. An interview investigation in 1969 and 1986                                                                          |
| Hoffman, H.           | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis        |
| Hollema, H.           | 5   | 471  | Ovarian metastasis from squamocellular cervical cancer, stages I B and II A                                                                               |
| Holmberg, N.-G.       | 4   | 377  | Heterophilic antibodies against rabbit serum causing falsely elevated gonadotropin levels                                                                 |
| Holmgren, G.          | 1   | 71   | On the prenatal diagnosis of congenital adrenal hyperplasia (CAH) by measurement of amniotic fluid 17-alpha-hydroxyprogesterone, aldosterone and cortisol |
| Holst, K.             | 8   | 699  | The unborn and newborn child I                                                                                                                            |
| Holst, K.             | 8   | 707  | The unborn and newborn child II                                                                                                                           |
| Holten, I. W.         | 3   | 277  | Bilateral parametrial mature teratomas                                                                                                                    |
| Honma, S.             | 5   | 429  | Establishment and characterization of a subline predisposed to pulmonary metastasis from a human gestational choriocarcinoma cell line in nude mice       |
| Howell, R. J. S.      | 3   | 237  | Placental proteins 12 and 14 in pre-eclampsia                                                                                                             |
| Hsiung, R.            | 8   | 713  | Are there two biological parts in the second stage of labor?                                                                                              |
| Hukkanen, V.          | 7   | 627  | Comparison of smear specimen with biopsy specimen in diagnostics of human papilloma virus (HPV) infection                                                 |
| Hägglund, L.          | 3   | 201  | Reduced rate of postoperative infections in emergency cesarean sections after two doses of cefuroxime perioperatively. A placebo controlled study         |
| Högberg, U.           | 4   | 351  | Maternal deaths related to cesarean section in Sweden 1951-1980                                                                                           |
| Højbjerg, T.          | 2   | 153  | The clinical significance of the genital microbiological flora at vacuum aspiration following miscarriage                                                 |
| Ingemarsson, I.       | 1   | 59   | The extremely large fetus. Antenatal identification, risks and proposed management                                                                        |
| Ingemarsson, I.       | 3   | 201  | Reduced rate of postoperative infections in emergency cesarean sections after two doses of cefuroxime perioperatively. A placebo controlled study         |
| Ingemarsson, I.       | 8   | 725  | Effect of isradipine, a new calcium antagonist, on postpartum uterine activity                                                                            |
| Iselin, M.            | 5   | 463  | Prenatal diagnosis of left ventricular false tendon                                                                                                       |
| Jacobsen, G.          | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                  |
| Jakobovits, A.        | 6   | 503  | Sex ratio and placenta previa                                                                                                                             |
| Janbu, R.             | 5   | 395  | The effect of dihydralazine on blood velocity in branches of the uterine artery in pregnancy induced hypertension                                         |
| Janbu, T.             | 5   | 387  | Doppler measurements on branches of the uterine artery in normal, hypertensive and growth-retarded pregnancies                                            |
| Janson, P. O.         | 6   | 507  | A model for prediction of endometrial cancer                                                                                                              |
| Jensen, H. K.         | 3   | 241  | Preoperative clindamycin treatment and vaginal drainage in hysterectomy                                                                                   |
| Jensen, M. L.         | 7   | 663  | Broad ligament mucinous and serous cystadenomas of borderline malignancy                                                                                  |
| Jóhannsson, J. H.     | 2   | 101  | Classification of perinatal and late neonatal deaths in Iceland. A survey from a defined population                                                       |
| Jóhannsson, J. H.     | 2   | 109  | Can we expect to lower perinatal and neonatal mortality?                                                                                                  |
| Johansen, B.          | 3   | 279  | Extramedullary solitary plasmacytoma at the uterine cervix as a cause of postcoital bleeding                                                              |
| Johansen, C.          | 2   | 119  | Maternal heart disease. A survey of a decade in a Danish university hospital                                                                              |
| Johansson, S.         | 6   | 507  | A model for prediction of endometrial cancer                                                                                                              |

| Author             | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                        |
|--------------------|-----|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Jonasson, A.       | 4   | 301  | Testing and training of the pelvic floor muscles after childbirth                                                                                                     |
| Jonasson, A.       | 5   | 401  | Contractile activity in the human uterine cervix and corpus during cervical dilatation by laminaria tent in first trimester legal abortions                           |
| Jonasson, A.       | 5   | 405  | The influence of cervical dilatation by laminaria tent and with Hegar dilators on the intrauterine microflora and the rate of postabortal pelvic inflammatory disease |
| Jorde, R.          | 2   | 185  | Addison's disease and pregnancy                                                                                                                                       |
| Jørgensen, E. H.   | 6   | 565  | Paravaginal tumor: Ureterolithiasis in an ectopic ureter                                                                                                              |
| Jørgensen, L.      | 3   | 211  | 24 hour home pad weighing test versus 1-hour ward test in the assessment of mild stress incontinence                                                                  |
| Jørgensen, O.      | 1   | 83   | A spleen pregnancy                                                                                                                                                    |
| Juchnicka, E.      | 1   | 31   | The influence of a combined oral contraceptive on uterine activity and reactivity to agonists in primary dysmenorrhoea                                                |
| Junge, O.          | 2   | 153  | The clinical significance of the genital microbiological flora at vacuum aspiration following miscarriage                                                             |
| Jurkovic, D.       | 2   | 131  | Transvaginal color Doppler for the assessment of pelvic circulation                                                                                                   |
| Kahn, J. A.        | 1   | 83   | A spleen pregnancy                                                                                                                                                    |
| Kanazawa, K.       | 5   | 429  | Establishment and characterization of a subline predisposed to pulmonary metastasis from a human gestational choriocarcinoma cell line in nude mice                   |
| Kaplan-Kraicer, R. | 7   | 661  | I.V.F. treatment following Danazol Priming in a patient with severe endometriosis                                                                                     |
| Kauer, F. M.       | 7   | 637  | Serum Ca 125 levels in patients with a provisional diagnosis of pelvic inflammatory disease. Clinical and theoretical implications                                    |
| Keeling, J. W.     | 7   | 581  | Maternal mortality in Jamaica. Socioeconomic factors                                                                                                                  |
| Kerkhof, M.        | 8   | 693  | The performance of a simple scoring system screening for low birth-weight infants for gestation in an unselected pregnant population                                  |
| Kjærgaard, B.      | 2   | 153  | The clinical significance of the genital microbiological flora at vacuum aspiration following miscarriage                                                             |
| Klebe, J. G.       | 6   | 541  | Changes in renal volume during normal pregnancy                                                                                                                       |
| Klein, M.          | 7   | 653  | Diagnostic potential of cardiocography (CTG) for silent uterine rupture                                                                                               |
| Klemi, P. J.       | 4   | 345  | Endobrush sampling for endometrial cancer                                                                                                                             |
| Knudsen, A.        | 2   | 153  | The clinical significance of the genital microbiological flora at vacuum aspiration following miscarriage                                                             |
| Knudsen, A.        | 8   | 719  | Maternal bilirubin, cord bilirubin, and placenta function at delivery and the development of jaundice in mature newborns                                              |
| Konrad, P.         | 4   | 371  | Intravenous leiomyomatosis                                                                                                                                            |
| Koskimies, A.      | 1   | 49   | Efficacy of gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist (Buserelin) in the treatment of endometriosis                                                                      |
| Kreisberg, G. A.   | 6   | 561  | Sinusoidal heart rate pattern and an normal biophysical profile in a severely compromised fetus                                                                       |
| Kroboth, W. K.     | 4   | 359  | Effect of beta-receptor blockers on uterine contractility in a puerperal model                                                                                        |
| Kubota, S.         | 5   | 475  | Treatment with Hachimijogan, a non-ergot Chinese herbal medicine, in two hyperprolactinemic infertile women                                                           |
| Kurjak, A.         | 2   | 131  | Transvaginal color Doppler for the assessment of pelvic circulation                                                                                                   |
| Köhler, G.         | 7   | 633  | Lipid metabolism during treatment of endometriosis with the progestin dienogest                                                                                       |
| Laatikainen, T.    | 1   | 49   | Efficacy of gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist (Buserelin) in the treatment of endometriosis                                                                      |
| Langer, M.         | 4   | 323  | Prospective counselling after prenatal diagnosis of fetal malformations: Interventions and parental reactions                                                         |
| Langer, R.         | 1   | 85   | Ultrasonographic diagnosis of post salpingectomy interstitial pregnancy                                                                                               |
| Langer, R.         | 6   | 529  | Calcium antagonist — Effect on adhesion formation                                                                                                                     |
| Larsen, B.         | 3   | 281  | Uterine rupture after re-implantation of fallopian tubes                                                                                                              |
| Larsson, B.        | 4   | 301  | Testing and training of the pelvic floor muscles after childbirth                                                                                                     |
| Larsson, B.        | 5   | 401  | Contractile activity in the human uterine cervix and corpus during cervical dilatation by laminaria tent in first trimester legal abortions                           |

| Author          | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------------|-----|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Larsson, B.     | 5   | 405  | The influence of cervical dilatation by laminaria tent and with Hegar dilators on the intrauterine microflora and the rate of postabortal pelvic inflammatory disease |
| Larsson, G.     | 5   | 423  | The relation between life stress and hypertensive complications during pregnancy                                                                                      |
| Larsson, H.     | 6   | 483  | Studies on blood viscosity during the menstrual cycle and in the postmenopausal period in healthy women                                                               |
| Larsson, P.-G.  | 3   | 217  | Mobiluncus and clue cells as predictors of PID after first trimester abortion                                                                                         |
| Laudanski, T.   | 1   | 31   | The influence of a combined oral contraceptive on uterine activity and reactivity to agonists in primary dysmenorrhoea                                                |
| Lebech, M.      | 8   | 719  | Maternal bilirubin, cord bilirubin, and placenta function at delivery and the development of jaundice in mature newborns                                              |
| Lehmijoki, J.   | 7   | 627  | Comparison of smear specimen with biopsy specimen in diagnostics of human papilloma virus (HPV) infection                                                             |
| Letterie, G.    | 6   | 571  | A combination of gonadotropin-releasing hormone analog and human menopausal gonadotropins for ovulation induction in premature ovarian failure                        |
| Lewinsky, R.    | 5   | 461  | Prenatal ultrasound diagnosis of isolated arthrogryposis of feet                                                                                                      |
| Lim, K. B.      | 5   | 467  | Dedifferentiated chondrosarcoma metastazing to the pancreas in pregnancy                                                                                              |
| Lind, B.        | 2   | 125  | Alleviation of labor pain in Norway. An interview investigation in 1969 and 1986                                                                                      |
| Lindmark, G.    | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                              |
| Lindström, B.   | 6   | 507  | A model for prediction of endometrial cancer                                                                                                                          |
| Lingman, G.     | 6   | 567  | Successful late repair of anal sphincter rupture caused by delivery                                                                                                   |
| Loisel, J. C.   | 5   | 463  | Prenatal diagnosis of left ventricular false tendon                                                                                                                   |
| Lose, G.        | 3   | 211  | 24 hour home pad weighing test versus 1-hour ward test in the assessment of mild stress incontinence                                                                  |
| Lossius, P.     | 7   | 589  | Changes in frequency and indications for cesarean section in Norway 1967-1984                                                                                         |
| Lotan, G.       | 6   | 529  | Calcium antagonist — Effect on adhesion formation                                                                                                                     |
| Lund, O.        | 3   | 267  | Emergency embolectomy in a patient with massive pulmonary embolism during second trimester pregnancy                                                                  |
| Lundberg, L.-M. | 6   | 487  | Local mechanical effects and humoral factors evoke degeneration of guinea pig uterine innervation                                                                     |
| Lundström, V.   | 1   | 65   | Twenty years experience of treating gestational trophoblastic neoplasia in Sweden                                                                                     |
| Lundström, V.   | 3   | 263  | Antibody to human chorionic gonadotropin detected choriocarcinoma                                                                                                     |
| Lundvall, L.    | 5   | 447  | Comparison between abnormal cytology, colposcopy and histopathology during pregnancy                                                                                  |
| Luthra, U. K.   | 6   | 527  | Small family norms and uterine cervical cancer                                                                                                                        |
| Lytzen, T.      | 4   | 341  | Relief of low back pain in labor using intracutaneous nerve stimulation (INS) with sterile water papules                                                              |
| Magnus, Ø.      | 3   | 197  | Gamete intrafallopian transfer (GIFT). The results of 93 consecutive treatments                                                                                       |
| Mahmood, T. A.  | 7   | 595  | Maternal height, birthweight, obstetric conjugate and their influence on the management of parturients with a previous cesarean scar                                  |
| Malme, P. A.    | 5   | 453  | Urinary tract infections and asymptomatic bacteriuria after vaginal plastic surgery. A comparison of Suprapubic and transurethral catheters                           |
| Malmström, H.   | 5   | 411  | Primary invasive squamous cell carcinoma of the vagina                                                                                                                |
| Maltau, J. M.   | 1   | 27   | Effects of two triphasic oral contraceptives containing ethinylestradiol plus levonorgestrel or gestodene on blood coagulation and fibrinolysis                       |
| Manthorpe, R.   | 6   | 537  | Autoimmune antibodies and pregnancy outcome in women with false positive syphilis test results                                                                        |
| Markestad, T.   | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                              |
| Markov, S.      | 6   | 523  | The use of PGE-2 for induction of labor in patients with a previous cesarean section scar                                                                             |

| Author             | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|--------------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Maršál, K.         | 2   | 171  | Fetal blood velocity waveforms in normal pregnancies. A longitudinal study                                                                                                                        |
| Marsk, L.          | 1   | 35   | Information on prenatal diagnosis at the antenatal clinic. The womens experiences                                                                                                                 |
| Marugo, M.         | 8   | 731  | Estrogen and progesteron receptors in uterine leiomyomas                                                                                                                                          |
| Mashiach, S.       | 6   | 511  | Ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome due to exogenous gonadotropin administration                                                                                                                    |
| Mathiesen, E.      | 2   | 145  | Pre-eclampsia. A mitochondrial disease?                                                                                                                                                           |
| Matthiesen, A. S.  | 3   | 205  | Effect of nipple stimulation on uterine activity and on plasma levels of oxytocin in full term healthy, pregnant women                                                                            |
| Maymon, R.         | 5   | 469  | Scleroderma and pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                         |
| McCarthy, B.       | 1   | 5    | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birthweight, plurality, and perinatal and infant mortality. I: Methods of data collection and analysis                                                |
| McCarthy, B.       | 2   | 113  | International collaborative effort (ICE) on birth weight, plurality, perinatal and infant mortality. III: A method of grouping underlying causes of infant death to aid international comparisons |
| McCaw-Binns, A.    | 7   | 581  | Maternal mortality in Jamaica. Socioeconomic factors                                                                                                                                              |
| Meisner, W.        | 4   | 359  | Effect of beta-receptor blockers on uterine contractility in a puerperal model                                                                                                                    |
| Mellblom, L.       | 4   | 371  | Intravenous leiomyomatosis                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Menashe, Y.        | 5   | 465  | Pyosalpinx subsequent to tubal ligation                                                                                                                                                           |
| Menashe, Y.        | 6   | 511  | Ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome due to exogenous gonadotropin administration                                                                                                                    |
| Mercé, L. T.       | 7   | 603  | Dopler velocimetry measured in retrochorionic space and uterine arteries during early human pregnancy                                                                                             |
| Michaeli, G. M.    | 6   | 523  | The use of PGE-2 for induction of labor in patients with a previous cesarean sectio scar                                                                                                          |
| Mikhail, M. G. S.  | 5   | 467  | Dedifferentiated chondrosarcoma metastazing to the pancreas in pregnancy                                                                                                                          |
| Miljan, M.         | 2   | 131  | Transvaginal color Doppler for the assessment of pelvic circulation                                                                                                                               |
| Milsom, I.         | 6   | 555  | A double-blind cross-over study comparing flurbiprofen with naproxen-sodium for the treatment of primary dysmenorrhea                                                                             |
| Miyazawa, K.       | 6   | 571  | A combination of gonadotropin-releasing hormone analog and human menopausal gonadotropins for ovulation induction in premature ovarian failure                                                    |
| Moen, M. H.        | 6   | 559  | Non-puerperal inversion of the uterus                                                                                                                                                             |
| Molne, K.          | 1   | 83   | A spleen pregnancy                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Mor-Yosef, S.      | 8   | 677  | Ranking risk factors for perinatal mortality. Analysis of a nation wide study                                                                                                                     |
| Morin, L. R. M.    | 5   | 463  | Prenatal diagnosis of left ventricular false tendon                                                                                                                                               |
| Murthy, N. S.      | 6   | 527  | Small family norms and uterine cervical cancer                                                                                                                                                    |
| Myking, O. L.      | 8   | 689  | Human chorionic gonadotropin in cord blood and peripheral maternal blood in singleton and twin pregnancies at delivery                                                                            |
| Mäenpää, J.        | 4   | 345  | Endobrush sampling for endometrial cancer                                                                                                                                                         |
| Mäkäraäinen, L.    | 4   | 345  | Endobrush sampling for endometrial cancer                                                                                                                                                         |
| Möller-Nielsen, J. | 4   | 341  | Relief of low back pain in labor using intracutaneous nerve stimulation (INS) with sterile water papules                                                                                          |
| Nelson, K. G.      | 1   | 19   | Preliminary results from the collaborative Alabama and Scandinavian study of successive small-for-gestational-age births                                                                          |
| Nesheim, B.-I.     | 5   | 395  | The effect of dihydralazine on blood velocity in branches of the uterine artery in pregnancy induced hypertension                                                                                 |
| Nielsen, J.        | 8   | 737  | Reversal of female sterilization using macro technique                                                                                                                                            |
| Nielsen, M. N.     | 7   | 663  | Broad ligament mucinous and serous cystadenomas of borderline malignancy                                                                                                                          |
| Nielsen, T. T.     | 3   | 267  | Emergency embolectomy in a patient with massive pulmonary embolism during second trimester pregnancy                                                                                              |
| Nilsson, B. A.     | 3   | 205  | Effect of nipple stimulation on uterine activity and on plasma levels of oxytocin in full term healthy, pregnant women                                                                            |

| Author                   | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------|-----|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Nilsson, I.-M.           | 6   | 537  | Autoimmune antibodies and pregnancy outcome in women with false positive syphilis test results                                                  |
| Nisell, H.               | 5   | 423  | The relation between life stress and hypertensive complications during pregnancy                                                                |
| Nord, E.                 | 1   | 55   | 100 cases of external cephalic version with special reference to fetomaterial transfusion                                                       |
| Odeberg, H.              | 6   | 483  | Studies on blood viscosity during the menstrual cycle and in the postmenopausal period in healthy women                                         |
| Odén, A.                 | 6   | 507  | A model for prediction of endometrial cancer                                                                                                    |
| Oelsner, G.              | 6   | 511  | Ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome due to exogenous gonadotropin administration                                                                  |
| Ohrlander, S.            | 6   | 567  | Successful late repair of anal sphincter rupture caused by delivery                                                                             |
| Okuda, K.                | 2   | 139  | Hypergonadotropinemia with estradiol secretion in peri- and postmenopausal period                                                               |
| Omsj , I. H.             | 1   | 27   | Effects of two triphasic oral contraceptives containing ethinylestradiol plus levonorgestrel or gestodene on blood coagulation and fibrinolysis |
| Osler, M.                | 2   | 119  | Maternal heart disease. A survey of a decade in a Danish university hospital                                                                    |
| Ovadia, J.               | 7   | 661  | I.V.F. treatment following Danazol Priming in a patient with severe endometriosis                                                               |
| Pedersen, S. J.          | 7   | 651  | Spontaneous rupture of an ovarian-artery aneurysm in the third trimester of pregnancy                                                           |
| Persitz, E.              | 8   | 677  | Ranking risk factors for perinatal mortality. Analysis of a nation wide study                                                                   |
| Persson, S.              | 6   | 483  | Studies on blood viscosity during the menstrual cycle and in the postmenopausal period in healthy women                                         |
| Pinkas, H.               | 7   | 661  | I.V.F. treatment following Danazol Priming in a patient with severe endometriosis                                                               |
| Piquard, F.              | 8   | 713  | Are there two biological parts in the second stage of labor?                                                                                    |
| Platz-Christensen, J. J. | 3   | 217  | Mobiluncus and clue cells as predictors of PID after first trimester abortion                                                                   |
| Pschera, H.              | 3   | 275  | Hydrop degeneration mimicking hydatidiform mole in tubal pregnancy                                                                              |
| Pschera, H.              | 4   | 301  | Testing and training of the pelvic floor muscles after childbirth                                                                               |
| Pulkkinen, M. O.         | 2   | 149  | Oral administration of the prostaglandin enisoprost induces uterine activity and softens the cervix during first trimester pregnancy            |
| P hlson, C.              | 3   | 217  | Mobiluncus and clue cells as predictors of PID after first trimester abortion                                                                   |
| Ranta, T.                | 1   | 49   | Efficacy of gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist (Buserelin) in the treatment of endometriosis                                                |
| Rasmussen, K. C.         | 3   | 277  | Bilateral parametrial mature teratomas                                                                                                          |
| Ratnam, S. S.            | 8   | 725  | Effect of isradipine, a new calcium antagonist, on postpartum uterine activity                                                                  |
| Raziel, A.               | 1   | 85   | Ultrasonographic diagnosis of post salpingectomy interstitial pregnancy                                                                         |
| Reinold, E.              | 1   | 89   | Vaginosonographic surveillance of cervix after conization                                                                                       |
| Reuwer, P. J. H. M.      | 8   | 693  | The performance of a simple scoring system screening for low birth-weight infants for gestation in an unselected pregnant population            |
| Ringler, M.              | 4   | 323  | Prospective counselling after prenatal diagnosis of fetal malformations: Interventions and parental reactions                                   |
| Ripa, T.                 | 1   | 79   | Effective sampling device and mucopurulent cervicitis in women with chlamydial cervical infection                                               |
| Risberg, B.              | 2   | 157  | The prognosis in early endometrial carcinoma. The importance of uterine papillary serous carcinoma (UPSC), age, FIGO grade and nuclear grade    |
| Rosen, A.                | 7   | 653  | Diagnostic potential of cardiotocography (CTG) for silent uterine rupture                                                                       |
| Rosen, D. J. D.          | 6   | 523  | The use of PGE-2 for induction of labor in patients with a previous cesarean section scar                                                       |
| Rosenberg, P.            | 2   | 157  | The prognosis in early endometrial carcinoma. The importance of uterine papillary serous carcinoma (UPSC), age, FIGO grade and nuclear grade    |
| Rud, T.                  | 6   | 545  | The risk of developing urinary stress-incontinence after vaginal repair in continent women                                                      |

| Author              | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                  |
|---------------------|-----|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Rydström, H.        | 1   | 59   | The extremely large fetus. Antenatal identification, risks and proposed management                                                              |
| Rylander, E.        | 2   | 179  | Papilloma virus infection of the vulva                                                                                                          |
| Rönnberg, L.        | 1   | 49   | Efficacy of gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist (Buserelin) in the treatment of endometriosis                                                |
| Rönnberg, L.        | 3   | 195  | Endometriosis, a mysterious and elusive disease                                                                                                 |
| Saarikoski, S.      | 3   | 271  | Squamous cell carcinoma of the vulva with cutaneous metastases                                                                                  |
| Saarikoski, S.      | 7   | 619  | Cryotherapy and CO <sub>2</sub> -laser vaporization in the treatment of cervical and vaginal human papillomavirus (HPV) infections              |
| Saastamoinen, J.    | 1   | 49   | Efficacy of gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist (Buserelin) in the treatment of endometriosis                                                |
| Sacks, A. J.        | 7   | 645  | First trimester diagnosis and early in utero treatment of obstructive uropathy                                                                  |
| Saeki, M.           | 2   | 139  | Hypergonadotropinemia with estradiol secretion in peri- and postmenopausal period                                                               |
| Salmi, T.           | 4   | 345  | Endobrush sampling for endometrial cancer                                                                                                       |
| Salmi, T.           | 7   | 627  | Comparison of smear specimen with biopsy specimen in diagnostics of human papilloma virus (HPV) infection                                       |
| Samueloff, A.       | 8   | 677  | Ranking risk factors for perinatal mortality. Analysis of a nation wide study                                                                   |
| Sandvei, R.         | 4   | 319  | Computation of fertility rates following a defined reproductive risk event, by the life table method, with ectopic pregnancy used as an example |
| Santala, M.         | 3   | 271  | Squamous cell carcinoma of the vulva with cutaneous metastases                                                                                  |
| Sarlin, J.          | 5   | 465  | Pyosalpinx subsequent to tubal ligation                                                                                                         |
| Satyanarayana, L.   | 6   | 527  | Small family norms and uterine cervical cancer                                                                                                  |
| Schaefer, A.        | 8   | 713  | Are there two biological parts in the second stage of labor?                                                                                    |
| Schenker, J. G.     | 8   | 677  | Ranking risk factors for perinatal mortality. Analysis of a nation wide study                                                                   |
| Schurz, B.          | 1   | 89   | Vaginosonographic surveillance of cervix after conization                                                                                       |
| Sehgal, A.          | 6   | 527  | Small family norms and uterine cervical cancer                                                                                                  |
| Seidman, D. S.      | 8   | 677  | Ranking risk factors for perinatal mortality. Analysis of a nation wide study                                                                   |
| Selbing, A.         | 4   | 305  | Feto-placental blood volume in severely anemic erythroblastotic fetuses                                                                         |
| Selbing, A.         | 4   | 309  | Fetal growth and fetal glucose and C-peptide levels in relation to the degree of anemia in fetuses affected by rhesus iso-immunization          |
| Serr, D. M.         | 6   | 511  | Ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome due to exogenous gonadotropin administration                                                                  |
| Shapiro, I.         | 5   | 461  | Prenatal ultrasound diagnosis of isolated arthrogryposis of feet                                                                                |
| Shapiro, M. S.      | 6   | 533  | Abnormal thyroid function in hyperemesis gravidarum                                                                                             |
| Sharf, M.           | 5   | 461  | Prenatal ultrasound diagnosis of isolated arthrogryposis of feet                                                                                |
| Shenkman, L.        | 6   | 533  | Abnormal thyroid function in hyperemesis gravidarum                                                                                             |
| Shenton, T.         | 7   | 581  | Maternal mortality in Jamaica. Socioeconomic factors                                                                                            |
| Shiøtz, H. J. A.    | 5   | 453  | Urinary tract infections and asymptomatic bacteriuria after vaginal plastic surgery. A comparison of Suprapubic and transurethral catheters     |
| Shoham (Swartz), Z. | 7   | 643  | Simultaneous tubal and intra-uterine pregnancy following in-vitro fertilization and embryo transfer                                             |
| Shulman, A.         | 6   | 533  | Abnormal thyroid function in hyperemesis gravidarum                                                                                             |
| Siddiqui, M. Z.     | 7   | 669  | Endodermal sinus tumor treated with high dose cisplatin                                                                                         |
| Sijmons, E. A.      | 8   | 693  | The performance of a simple scoring system screening for low birth-weight infants for gestation in an unselected pregnant population            |
| Silber, M.          | 1   | 75   | Elevated plasma levels of oxytocin in women taking low dose oral contraceptives                                                                 |
| Simonsen, E.        | 2   | 157  | The prognosis in early endometrial carcinoma. The importance of uterine papillary serous carcinoma (UPSC), age, FIGO grade and nuclear grade    |
| Simonsen, E.        | 5   | 411  | Primary invasive squamous cell carcinoma of the vagina                                                                                          |
| Simonsen, E. F.     | 6   | 551  | CO <sub>2</sub> laser used for cancer in situ/Bowen's disease (VIN) and lichen sclerosus in the vulvar region                                   |
| Singh, V.           | 6   | 527  | Small family norms and uterine cervical cancer                                                                                                  |

| Author             | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                      |
|--------------------|-----|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Sjögren, B.        | 1   | 35   | Information on prenatal diagnosis at the antenatal clinic. The womens experiences                                                                   |
| Sjögren, C.        | 2   | 165  | Plasma levels of gastrin, somatostatin, VIP, insulin and oxytocin during the menstrual cycle in women (with and without oral contraceptives)        |
| Skjæraasen, J.     | 3   | 265  | Gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist as an adjunct in conservative surgery for uterine leiomyomas                                                 |
| Skjeldestad, F. E. | 1   | 83   | A spleen pregnancy                                                                                                                                  |
| Skjærven, R.       | 7   | 589  | Changes in frequency and indications for cesarean section in Norway 1967-1984                                                                       |
| Smith, E. R.       | 6   | 497  | Beta-endorphin levels in the human menstrual cycle                                                                                                  |
| Snædal, G.         | 2   | 101  | Classification of perinatal and late neonatal deaths in Iceland. A survey from a defined population                                                 |
| Snædal, G.         | 2   | 109  | Can we expect to lower perinatal and neonatal mortality?                                                                                            |
| Snædal, G.         | 7   | 599  | Incidence and relation to parity of pregnancy-induced hypertension in Iceland                                                                       |
| Sokol, R. J.       | 5   | 417  | Quality assurance in a large American perinatal center                                                                                              |
| Sørnes, T.         | 5   | 439  | Uterine size, parity and umbilical cord length                                                                                                      |
| Sørnes, T.         | 7   | 609  | Short umbilical cord as a cause of fetal distress                                                                                                   |
| Stangenberg, M.    | 4   | 305  | Feto-placental blood volume in severely anemic erythroblastotic fetuses                                                                             |
| Stangenberg, M.    | 4   | 309  | Fetal growth and fetal glucose and C-peptide levels in relation to the degree of anemia in fetuses affected by rhesus iso-immunization              |
| Steier, J. A.      | 8   | 689  | Human chorionic gonadotropin in cord blood and peripheral maternal blood in singleton and twin pregnancies at delivery                              |
| Stock, S.          | 1   | 75   | Elevated plasma levels of oxytocin in women taking low dose oral contraceptives                                                                     |
| Stock, S.          | 2   | 165  | Plasma levels of gastrin, somatostatin, VIP, insulin and oxytocin during the menstrual cycle in women (with and without oral contraceptives)        |
| Stock, S.          | 3   | 205  | Effect of nipple stimulation on uterine activity and on plasma levels of oxytocin in full term healthy, pregnant women                              |
| Su-qin, Y.         | 8   | 683  | Comparison of induced versus non-induced labor in post-term pregnancy. A randomized prospective study                                               |
| Sugimoto, O.       | 2   | 139  | Hypergonadotropinemia with estradiol secretion in peri- and postmenopausal period                                                                   |
| Sunde, A.          | 1   | 83   | A spleen pregnancy                                                                                                                                  |
| Svensson, L.       | 1   | 79   | Effective sampling device and mucopurulent cervicitis in women with chlamydial cervical infection                                                   |
| Swahn, M.-L.       | 4   | 293  | Termination of early pregnancy with RU 486 (mifepristone) in combination with a prostaglandin analogue (sulprostone)                                |
| Syrjänen, K.       | 3   | 271  | Squamous cell carcinoma of the vulva with cutaneous metastases                                                                                      |
| Syrjänen, K.       | 7   | 613  | Concept on the existence of human papillomavirus (HPV) DNA in histologically normal squamous epithelium of the genital tract should be re-evaluated |
| Syrjänen, K.       | 7   | 619  | Cryotherapy and CO <sub>2</sub> -laser vaporization in the treatment of cervical and vaginal human papillomavirus (HPV) infections                  |
| Syrjänen, S.       | 7   | 613  | Concept on the existence of human papillomavirus (HPV) DNA in histologically normal squamous epithelium of the genital tract should be re-evaluated |
| Syrjänen, S.       | 7   | 619  | Cryotherapy and CO <sub>2</sub> -laser vaporization in the treatment of cervical and vaginal human papillomavirus (HPV) infections                  |
| Søgaard, P.        | 6   | 537  | Autoimmune antibodies and pregnancy outcome in women with false positive syphilis test results                                                      |
| Tadir, Y.          | 7   | 661  | I.V.F. treatment following Danazol Priming in a patient with severe endometriosis                                                                   |
| Takahashi, H.      | 5   | 429  | Establishment and characterization of a subline predisposed to pulmonary metastasis from a human gestational choriocarcinoma cell line in nude mice |
| Takeuchi, S.       | 5   | 429  | Establishment and characterization of a subline predisposed to pulmonary metastasis from a human gestational choriocarcinoma cell line in nude mice |

| Author                    | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                               |
|---------------------------|-----|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Tamarkin, M.              | 5   | 465  | Pyosalpinx subsequent to tubal ligation                                                                                                      |
| Tanbo, T.                 | 3   | 197  | Game's intrafallopian transfer (GIFT). The results of 93 consecutive treatments                                                              |
| Tanbo, T.                 | 3   | 265  | Gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist as an adjunct in conservative surgery for uterine leiomyomas                                          |
| Tanbo, T. G.              | 5   | 453  | Urinary tract infections and asymptomatic bacteriuria after vaginal plastic surgery. A comparison of Suprapubic and transurethral catheters  |
| Teisner, B.               | 3   | 237  | Placental proteins 12 and 14 in pre-eclampsia                                                                                                |
| Teramo, K.                | 5   | 457  | Comparison of menstrual history and basal body temperature with early fetal growth by ultrasound in diabetic pregnancy                       |
| Thomassen, P.             | 1   | 55   | 100 cases of external cephalic version with special reference to fetomaterial transfusion                                                    |
| Thomsen, N. O. B.         | 6   | 565  | Paravaginal tumor: Ureterolithiasis in an ectopic ureter                                                                                     |
| Thorbert, G.              | 6   | 487  | Local mechanical effects and humoral factors evoke degeneration of guinea pig uterine innervation                                            |
| Thunelborg, P.            | 3   | 211  | 24 hour home pad weighing test versus 1-hour ward test in the assessment of mild stress incontinence                                         |
| Thunold, S.               | 7   | 669  | Endodermal sinus tumor treated with high dose cisplatin                                                                                      |
| Torbergson, T.            | 2   | 145  | Pre-eclampsia. A mitochondrial disease?                                                                                                      |
| Trolle, B.                | 1   | 45   | Prenatal Rh-immune prophylaxis with 300 µg immune globulin anti-D in the 28th week of pregnancy                                              |
| Tropé, C.                 | 5   | 411  | Primary invasive squamous cell carcinoma of the vagina                                                                                       |
| Tsong, Y.                 | 6   | 497  | Beta-endorphin levels in the human menstrual cycle                                                                                           |
| Ullberg, C.               | 6   | 515  | Somatic complications and contraceptive techniques following legal abortion                                                                  |
| Ulmsten, U.               | 4   | 365  | Intravenous infusion of 15 methyl-prostaglandin F <sub>2</sub> -alpha (Prostinfenem) in women with heavy post partum hemorrhage              |
| Ulstein, M.               | 8   | 689  | Human chorionic gonadotropin in cord blood and peripheral maternal blood in singleton and twin pregnancies at delivery                       |
| Ushiroyama, T.            | 2   | 139  | Hypergonadotropinemia with estradiol secretion in peri- and postmenopausal period                                                            |
| Usuki, S.                 | 5   | 475  | Treatment with Hachimijogan, a non-ergot Chinese herbal medicine, in two hyperprolactinemic infertile women                                  |
| Usuki, Y.                 | 5   | 475  | Treatment with Hachimijogan, a non-ergot Chinese herbal medicine, in two hyperprolactinemic infertile women                                  |
| Uvnäs-Moberg, K.          | 1   | 75   | Elevated plasma levels of oxytocin in women taking low dose oral contraceptives                                                              |
| Uvnäs-Moberg, K.          | 2   | 165  | Plasma levels of gastrin, somatostatin, VIP, insulin and oxytocin during the menstrual cycle in women (with and without oral contraceptives) |
| Uvnäs-Moberg, K.          | 3   | 205  | Effect of nipple stimulation on uterine activity and on plasma levels of oxytocin in full term healthy, pregnant women                       |
| van Venrooij, G. E. P. M. | 3   | 221  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. I: Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage function            |
| van Venrooij, G. E. P. M. | 3   | 231  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. II: Urodynamic quantification of changes in evacuation function        |
| Vancaillie, Th.           | 4   | 363  | Ovarian cystotomy                                                                                                                            |
| Vervest, H. A. M.         | 3   | 221  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. I: Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage function            |
| Vervest, H. A. M.         | 3   | 231  | Non-radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. II: Urodynamic quantification of changes in evacuation function        |
| Vervest, H. A. M.         | 4   | 331  | Radical hysterectomy and the function of the lower urinary tract. Urodynamic quantification of changes in storage and evacuation function    |
| Vervest, H. A. M.         | 8   | 693  | The performance of a simple scoring system screening for low birth-weight infants for gestation in an unselected pregnant population         |
| von Eyben, F. E.          | 7   | 669  | Endodermal sinus tumor treated with high dose cisplatin                                                                                      |
| von Schultz, B.           | 2   | 179  | Papilloma virus infection of the vulva                                                                                                       |
| Vuoto, M.                 | 2   | 149  | Oral administration of the prostaglandin enisoprost induces uterine activity and softens the cervix during first trimester pregnancy         |

| Author            | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------------|-----|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Vuopala, S.       | 4   | 345  | Endobrush sampling for endometrial cancer                                                                                                           |
| Wadell, G.        | 2   | 179  | Papilloma virus infection of the vulva                                                                                                              |
| Wager, J.         | 5   | 423  | The relation between life stress and hypertensive complications during pregnancy                                                                    |
| Wardimon, J.      | 1   | 85   | Ultrasonographic diagnosis of post salpingectomy interstitial pregnancy                                                                             |
| Wennevold, A.     | 2   | 119  | Maternal heart disease. A survey of a decade in a Danish university hospital                                                                        |
| West, C. P.       | 8   | 743  | The characteristics of 100 women presenting to a gynecological clinic with premenstrual complaints                                                  |
| Westgren, M.      | 4   | 305  | Feto-placental blood volume in severely anemic erythroblastotic fetuses                                                                             |
| Westgren, M.      | 4   | 309  | Fetal growth and fetal glucose and C-peptide levels in relation to the degree of anemia in fetuses affected by rhesus iso-immunization              |
| Westlin, L.       | 2   | 165  | Plasma levels of gastrin, somatostatin, VIP, insulin and oxytocin during the menstrual cycle in women (with and without oral contraceptives)        |
| Weström, L.       | 3   | 201  | Reduced rate of postoperative infections in emergency cesarean sections after two doses of cefuroxime perioperatively. A placebo controlled study   |
| Wexler, S.        | 6   | 529  | Calcium antagonist — Effect on adhesion formation                                                                                                   |
| Wide-Swensson, D. | 8   | 725  | Effect of isradipine, a new calcium antagonist, on postpartum uterine activity                                                                      |
| Wiedswang, G.     | 6   | 559  | Non-puerperal inversion of the uterus                                                                                                               |
| Wielandt, H.      | 3   | 255  | Sexual behavior, contraception and unintended pregnancy among young females                                                                         |
| Wiqvist, N.       | 4   | 313  | Preoperative dilatation of the cervix at legal abortion with a synthetic, fast swelling hygroscopic tent                                            |
| Yaffe, H.         | 6   | 561  | Sinusoidal heart rate pattern and an normal biophysical profile in a severely compromised fetus                                                     |
| Yamini, M.        | 7   | 643  | Simultaneous tubal and intra-uterine pregnancy following in-vitro fertilization and embryo transfer                                                 |
| Yliskoski, M.     | 7   | 619  | Cryotherapy and CO <sub>2</sub> -laser vaporization in the treatment of cervical and vaginal human papillomavirus (HPV) infections                  |
| Yoshikawa, M.     | 2   | 139  | Hypergonadotropinemia with estradiol secretion in peri- and postmenopausal period                                                                   |
| Yoshiya, N.       | 5   | 429  | Establishment and characterization of a subline predisposed to pulmonary metastasis from a human gestational choriocarcinoma cell line in nude mice |
| Zador, I. E.      | 7   | 645  | First trimester diagnosis and early in utero treatment of obstructive uropathy                                                                      |
| Zalud, I.         | 2   | 131  | Transvaginal color Doppler for the assessment of pelvic circulation                                                                                 |
| Zhi-zeng, G.      | 8   | 683  | Comparison of induced versus non-induced labor in post-term pregnancy. A randomized prospective study                                               |
| Zohar, S.         | 4   | 379  | Quadruplets following cessation of clomiphene citrate: A case of sustained effect                                                                   |
| Zubek, L.         | 6   | 503  | Sex ratio and placenta previa                                                                                                                       |
| Åbyholm, T.       | 3   | 197  | Gamete intrafallopian transfer (GIFT). The results of 93 consecutive treatments                                                                     |
| Åbyholm, T.       | 3   | 265  | Gonadotropin-releasing hormone agonist as an adjunct in conservative surgery for uterine leiomyomas                                                 |
| Åkerlund, M.      | 1   | 31   | The influence of a combined oral contraceptive on uterine activity and reactivity to agonists in primary dysmenorrhoea                              |
| Årström, K.       | 2   | 171  | Fetal blood velocity waveforms in normal pregnancies. A longitudinal study                                                                          |
| Øian, P.          | 1   | 27   | Effects of two triphasic oral contraceptives containing ethinylestradiol plus levonorgestrel or gestodene on blood coagulation and fibrinolysis     |
| Øian, P.          | 2   | 145  | Pre-eclampsia. A mitochondrial disease?                                                                                                             |
| Østergård, B.     | 3   | 279  | Extramedullary solitary plasmacytoma at the uterine cervix as a cause of postcoital bleeding                                                        |
| Østerud, B.       | 1   | 27   | Effects of two triphasic oral contraceptives containing ethinylestradiol plus levonorgestrel or gestodene on blood coagulation and fibrinolysis     |

| Author         | No. | Page | Title of paper                                                                        |
|----------------|-----|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Östlund, E.    | 6   | 515  | Somatic complications and contraceptive techniques following legal abortion           |
| Øvlisen, B. Ø. | 7   | 651  | Spontaneous rupture of an ovarian-artery aneurysm in the third trimester of pregnancy |
| Øvlisen, B. Ø. | 8   | 737  | Reversal of female sterilization using macro technique                                |

